PARENT CONSENT

Further information about this competition is available at buzara.org
Please access the website to fully understand the competition and its parameters, judging criteria and ambition. ABBI would also recommend informing yourself of YouTube account conditions prior to entering this competition.

Content of Film

Students and their guardians have sole responsibility for the content uploaded on YouTube, including any breach of copyright or inappropriate content. Should a film be inappropriate for any reason the competition organisers retain the right to ask YouTube to remove the video and/or disassociate the film from the competition.

I have read and understand the above information about content uploaded to YouTube.

YouTube Licences and Ownership of the Film

Films need to be uploaded to YouTube under one of their licensing types. This will need to be decided by the student and their guardians.

However, as a condition of entry, students will agree to have their film used in future promotional materials for the Australia Bisa Bahasa Indonesia competition. In doing so, organisers of the competition may make some changes to films, such as adding subtitles, editing clips to reduce their length, etc. Films remain the property of the student and will not be used for any other purpose unless re-negotiated with the student and their guardian.

I have read and understand the above information about YouTube licenses and use of student films by ABBI and buzara.org for promotional materials.

Parent Permission

Students must have permission from their guardian to upload films to YouTube to participate in ABBI. Students' name and school will be published on the ABBI website and prize winners may have their name and school published by interested organisations, such as the Australia Indonesia Youth Association.

Students and their guardians will have sole responsibility for managing the YouTube account they use to upload their film. Advice about disabling comments to prevent "trolling", online bullying and other internet related risks is available to students and their guardians in promotional materials. Decisions about the YouTube account options available when uploading a film remain with the student and their guardian.

I have read and understand the above information about guardian permission and YouTube accounts.
